

Tagline: "Our obsession for comfort".

About us

Welcome to your new home away from home. It was quite a journey to get yourself here. We thank you for carving some valuable time to be here. Now let us ensure that your brief stay with us, will stay with you for an eternity.

We, at Maldon Rose cherish the importance of family time. A treasured moment that seems a rarity in these fast-paced modern times. We, the Maldon Rose family, welcome you with open arms to our home away from home; which can be your new home away from home.

The moment you step into our charming, cozy space you are transported to a bygone era. As you walk through the door frame cascaded with varies shades of pink and white blooms, you are immediately welcomed by a warm and friendly member of our Maldon Rose family.

A regular? They will know your order by heart.

New to the Maldon Rose experience?

You will undeniably feel you've been here before. We will make sure of that.

You will be mesmerised by the French inspired milieu adorned with pastel floral decor fused with traditional British comfort cuisine located in a quaint rare 1850's double-storey shop in Australia's first notable town.

Each object you transfix your gaze onto has a unique story to tell. Each marvellous piece; from the adorable retro-fide pink fridge, to the astounding chandelier and even the plate, from our mother Kimberlei's personal 30 year old China collection, that your delectable treat is served on, has been chosen for a sentimental reason.

Each item is symbolic and personally chosen from a member of our family.

As you continue walking through you will not miss the vintage pressed tin wall, showcasing our personal crockery. Each step you take, you will have an abundance of sensory overload. A warm smile, the pretty treats, beautiful furnitures, our friendly family. You will be lead out into the beautiful courtyard area; perfect for intimate events amongst family and friends.

So how did this unified creative hobby evolve into a reality?

Introducing the The Maldon Rose family

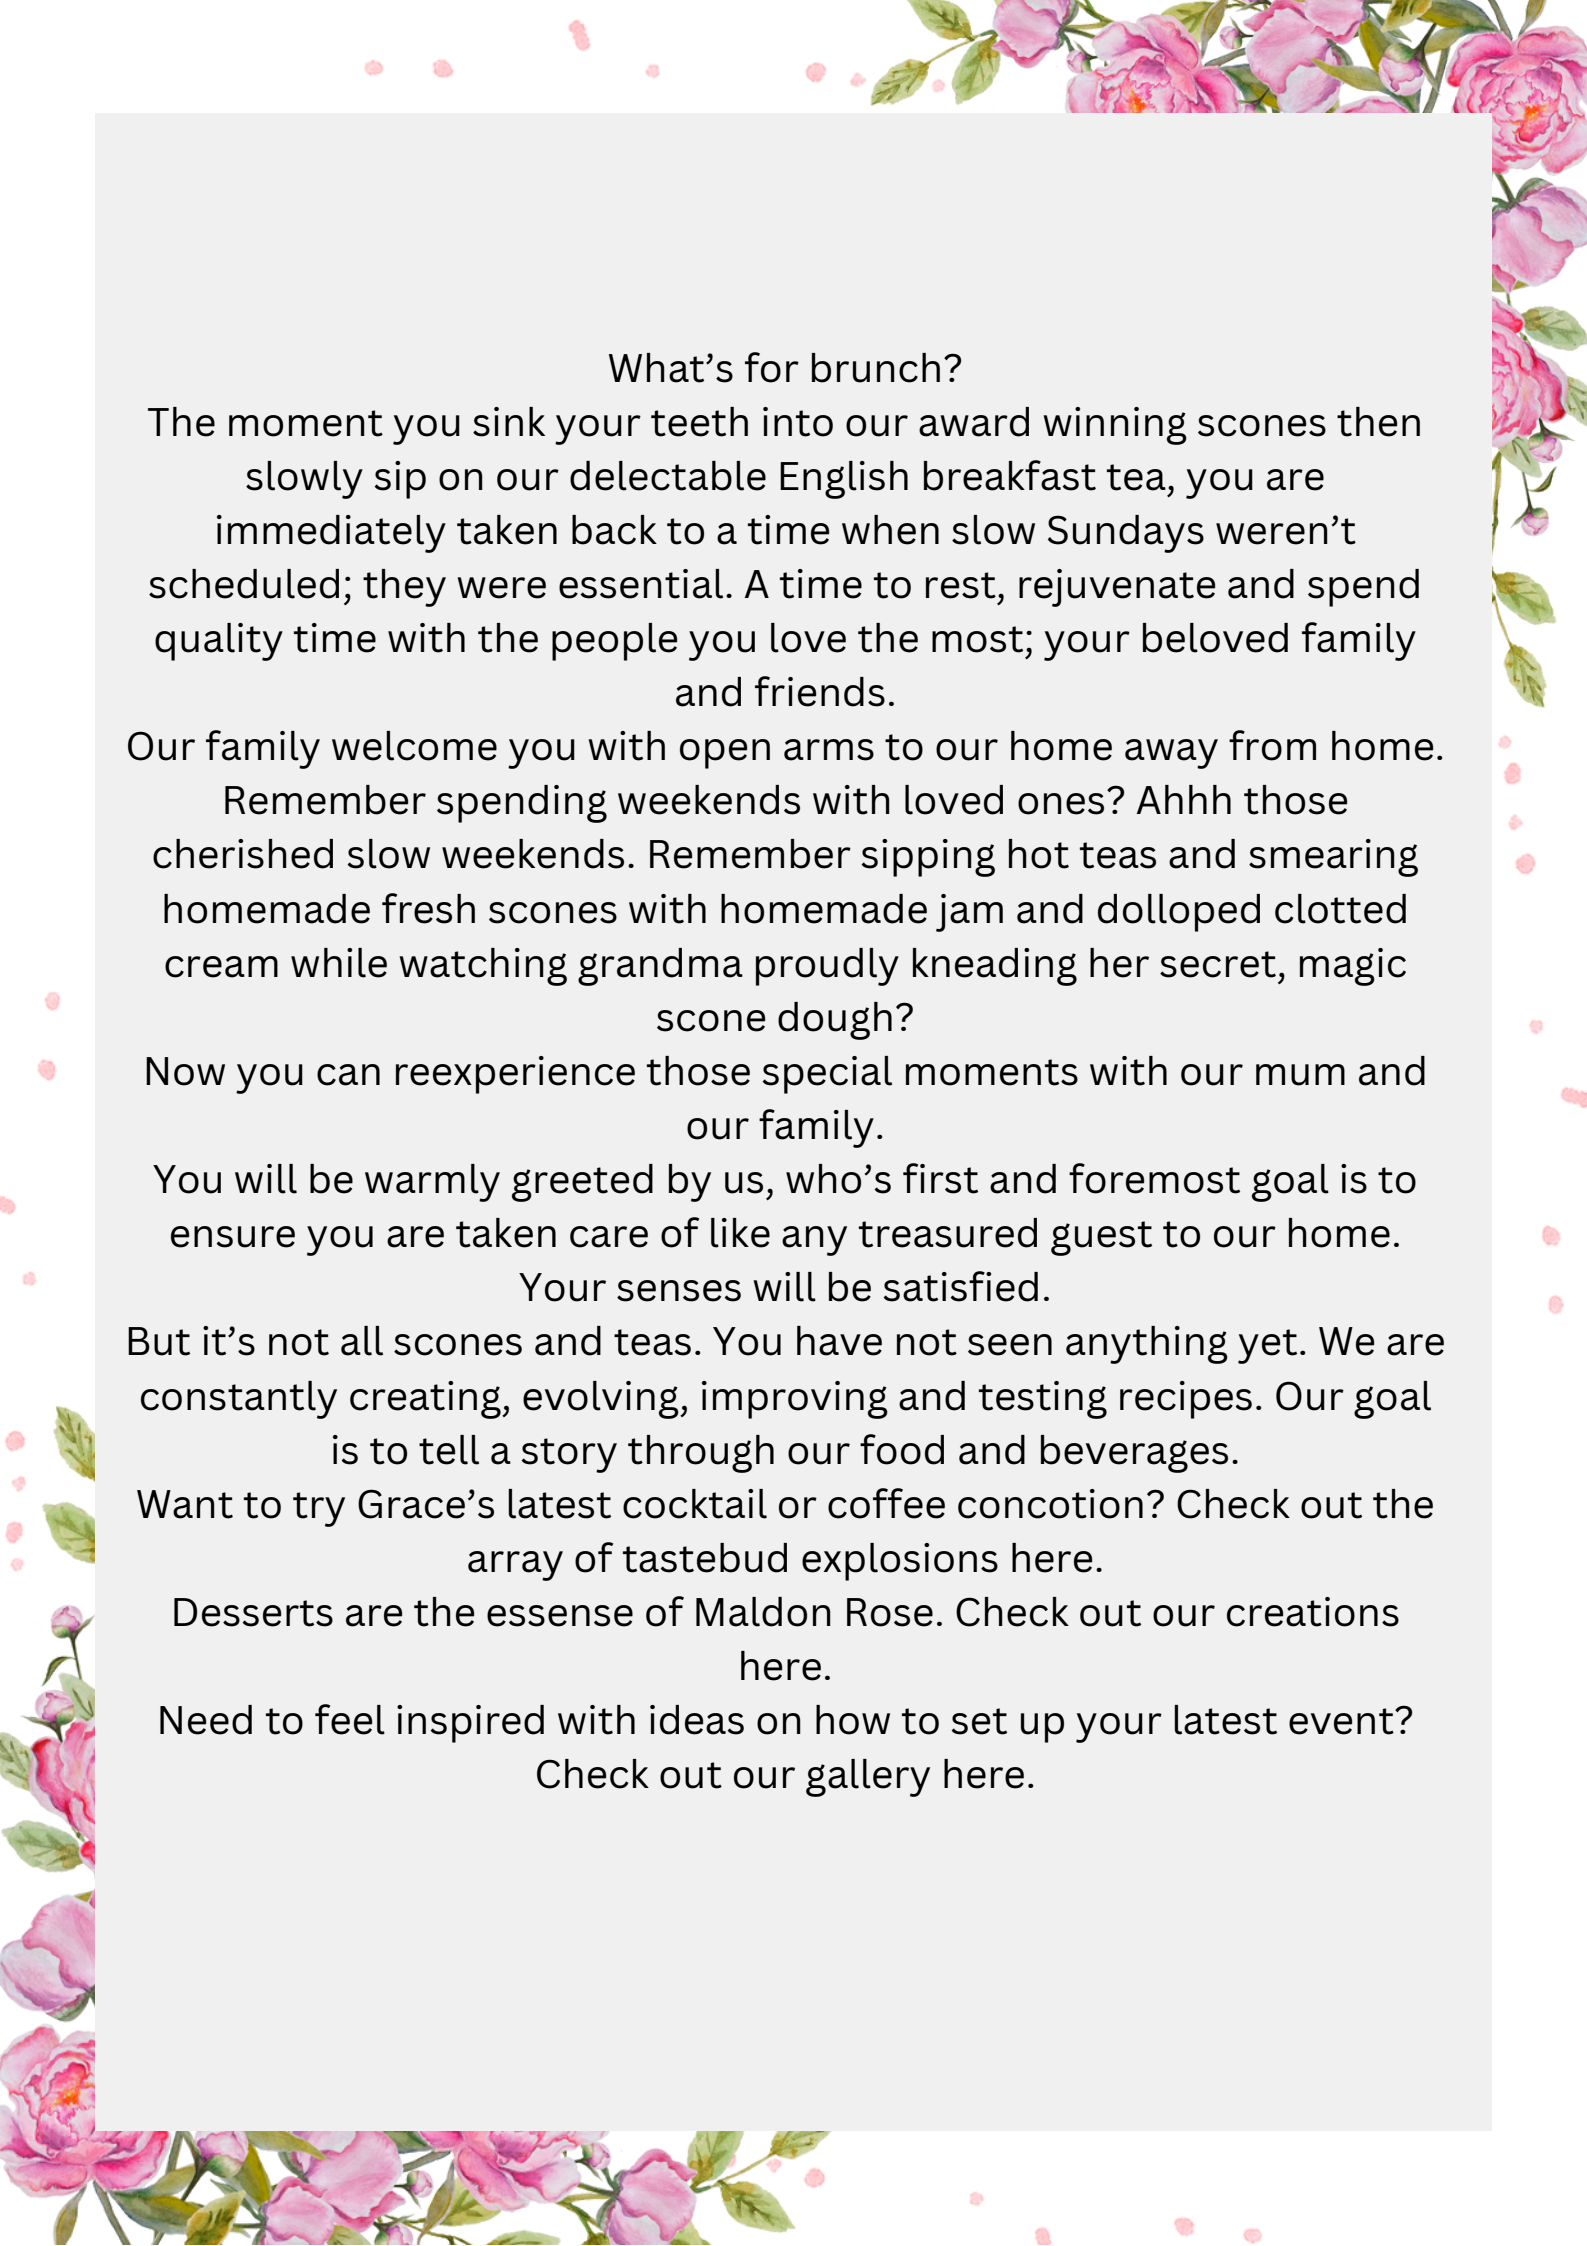

Maldon Rose's matriach, our mother Kimberlei, has always had a clear vision of owning a shop. She has trained in a French restaurant in her younger years whilst juggling a large brood. Her love for both French and British cuisine and distinctive decor and her insatiable entrepreneurial drive has most certainly been passed onto our family.

Kimberlei had completed her studies in French patisserie and other similar studies. Our family have always dabbled in catering, cupcakes, bake sales and the like. As time went on, her lifelong collection of French and British pieces was a constant reminder to pursue her dreams of owning a shop, that she can share and run with her beloved family. Ultimate goal? To create the traditional, comfort British-influenced desserts and dishes from yesteryear while introducing the uniquely creative fusions of modern tastes.

The Maldon Rose concept was reignited during a recent family trip to their home country, the UK, followed by a long-awaited trip to France. Their desire to create a cafe that represented their love for British fare and French-inspired decor has always been Kimberlei's childhood dream.

While exploring our families motherland, the UK followed by France in <date here>, we were inspired by the beautiful motifs and unique fixtures. It reignited Kimberlei's dream to create a cafe where she can create a space that showcased everything she loved about her British heritage and her love affair for beautiful French inspired decor. To share this experience with her beloved family and now with you. Her idea finally became a reality when Kimberlei, her husband and eldest daughter Jade went on a much-needed day trip to Maldon. They were exploring a whole bunch of different shops, with no real intention to find a place to set up, it was simply a break from the city/surburban life. Then one shop stood out from the rest. A cute, little, double storey shop (which was rare in those days) appeared, dark and empty for years. The bonus? It was for lease! Within a week they were in negotians and the rest is history.

We have introduced the matriach - meet the rest of the Maldon Rose family here.

What's for brunch?

The moment you sink your teeth into our award winning scones then slowly sip on our delectable English breakfast tea, you are immediately taken back to a time when slow Sundays weren't scheduled; they were essential. A time to rest, rejuvenate and spend quality time with the people you love the most; your beloved family and friends.

Our family welcome you with open arms to our home away from home.

Remember spending weekends with loved ones? Ahhh those cherished slow weekends. Remember sipping hot teas and smearing homemade fresh scones with homemade jam and dolloped clotted cream while watching grandma proudly kneading her secret, magic scone dough?

Now you can reexperience those special moments with our mum and our family.

You will be warmly greeted by us, who's first and foremost goal is to ensure you are taken care of like any treasured guest to our home.

Your senses will be satisfied.

But it's not all scones and teas. You have not seen anything yet. We are constantly creating, evolving, improving and testing recipes. Our goal is to tell a story through our food and beverages.

Want to try Grace's latest cocktail or coffee concoction? Check out the array of tastebud explosions here.

Desserts are the essence of Maldon Rose. Check out our creations here.

Need to feel inspired with ideas on how to set up your latest event? Check out our gallery here.

Want to experience Maldon Rose familial hospitality?
Whether you are celebrating a loved one's elegant bridal shower, anticipated baby shower, a long-awaited catch up with friends or family for that repeatedly rescheduled brunch or a take-away and treat to go, we will have your special close knit gathering covered from the moment you make that booking.

Each miniscule detail is thought out with careful planning, creativity and care. Our Maldon Rose family ALWAYS conduct their events with one thing in mind; how do we make your special event an unforgettable one?

Whichever you choose, the ideas, and special details will be uniquely catered to you and your needs.

For more information and/or make a booking? Click here Contact us on <email address or number>

Follow us on our socials <socials icons here>

